GOV•UK

Housing Benefit

Contents

— Eligibility (/housing-benefit)

— What you'll get (/housing-benefit/what-youll-get)

— Supporting your claim (/housing-benefit/supporting-your-claim)

— How to claim (/housing-benefit/how-to-claim)

— Report a change of circumstances (/housing-benefit/report-a-change-of-circumstances)

— Other help with housing costs

Other help with housing costs

Housing Benefit will not cover heating, hot water, energy or food. If you need help, use a benefits calculator (/benefits-calculators) to check what else you might be entitled to.

Extra help to pay the rent

You might be able to get extra money from your local council if your Housing Benefit does not cover all your rent. This is called a 'Discretionary Housing Payment (/government/publications/claiming-discretionary-housing-payments)'.

To apply for a Discretionary Housing Payment, contact your local council (/find-local-council).

Help with heating costs

Check what help you can get with heating and energy costs (/energy-grants-calculator).

← Previous
Report a change of circumstances (/housing-benefit/report-a-change-of-circumstances)

View a printable version of the whole guide (/housing-benefit/print)

OGL

All content is available under the Open Government Licence v3.0, except where otherwise stated

© Crown copyright